

Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography

By Geoffrey Batchen

Download now

Read Online

Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography By Geoffrey Batchen

In an 1828 letter to his partner, Nicéphore Niépce, Louis Daguerre wrote, "I am burning with desire to see your experiments from nature." In this book, Geoffrey Batchen analyzes the desire to photograph as it emerged within the philosophical and scientific milieus that preceded the actual invention of photography. Recent accounts of photography's identity tend to divide between the postmodern view that all identity is determined by context and a formalist effort to define the fundamental characteristics of photography as a medium. Batchen critiques both approaches by way of a detailed discussion of photography's conception in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. He examines the output of the various nominees for "first photographer," then incorporates this information into a mode of historical criticism informed by the work of Michel Foucault and Jacques Derrida. The result is a way of thinking about photography that persuasively accords with the medium's undeniable conceptual, political, and historical complexity.

 Download Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography ...pdf

 Read Online Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photograp ...pdf

Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography

By Geoffrey Batchen

Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography By Geoffrey Batchen

In an 1828 letter to his partner, Nicéphore Niépce, Louis Daguerre wrote, "I am burning with desire to see your experiments from nature." In this book, Geoffrey Batchen analyzes the desire to photograph as it emerged within the philosophical and scientific milieus that preceded the actual invention of photography. Recent accounts of photography's identity tend to divide between the postmodern view that all identity is determined by context and a formalist effort to define the fundamental characteristics of photography as a medium. Batchen critiques both approaches by way of a detailed discussion of photography's conception in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. He examines the output of the various nominees for "first photographer," then incorporates this information into a mode of historical criticism informed by the work of Michel Foucault and Jacques Derrida. The result is a way of thinking about photography that persuasively accords with the medium's undeniable conceptual, political, and historical complexity.

Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography By Geoffrey Batchen Bibliography

- Sales Rank: #914966 in Books
- Published on: 1999-02-26
- Original language: English
- Number of items: 1
- Dimensions: 9.00" h x .63" w x 7.50" l, 1.25 pounds
- Binding: Paperback
- 286 pages

 Download Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography ...pdf

 Read Online Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photograp ...pdf

Download and Read Free Online Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography By Geoffrey Batchen

---

Editorial Review

Amazon.com Review

If, by 1725, all the chemical and optical necessities for the practice of photography already existed, why wasn't the art form invented until 1839? Geoffrey Batchen, an associate professor of art history and author of Burning with Desire, has an interesting answer: people simply weren't ready for it. Along with a blossoming in literature, philosophy, music, and science, the 18th century was also host to a whole new way of thinking about nature and landscape. The camera obscura, a portable box equipped with a lens or a mirror, was a popular tool that people used to first capture views and then trace them. The ability to reproduce a scene--however imperfectly--whet people's appetites for more exact methods, leading first to what Batchen calls the "proto-photographers," and then sometime later to the invention of Louis Daguerre's daguerrotype and Henry Fox Talbot's photography in the same year.

Batchen's history lesson is filled with eccentric characters and fascinating insights into passions and obsessions of the Age of Enlightenment. The book becomes controversial, however, in Batchen's assertion that the early photographers, rather than trying to capture reality, were, in fact, attempting to deconstruct it--long before Jacques Derrida created the theory of deconstruction. Whether or not you end up agreeing with Batchen, Burning with Desire is a unique look at photography's roots, one sure to engender heated discussion among enthusiasts of the art form.

Review

This is an original and provocative rethinking of photography's origins and the scholars who inhabit the 'battlefield' of opinion that seeks to define its essence. In highly readable prose, Geoffrey Batchen deploys Foucauldian and Derridean insights to issue a challenge to the medium's postmodernist as well as its formalist critics, shaping an argument about photography and power that flies in the face of received wisdom.

(Carol Squiers, Senior Editor, America Photo)

Burning with Desire in its lucid and innovative blend of historical and theoretical reflections, will quickly become an enduring and indispensable text within contemporary studies of photography and visual culture. Especially amid current debates over whether or not we have entered a "post-photographic" era, Geoffrey Batchen's work will be essential reading for its deeply intelligent archaeology of the material and philosophical status of the photograph.

(Jonathan Crary, Columbia University)

I wholeheartedly recommend Geoffrey Batchen's book Burning with Desire. It is a cultural studies or cultural history text, with ramifications for art history, the history of philosophy, studies in visuality, contemporary theory, and, of course, photographic history. Batchen writes with great clarity and pedagogic patience about ideas that are often judged difficult. I have no doubt that the book's lucidity and range will make it popular with scholars in all of these fields, as well as in graduate seminars.

(Mary Warner Marien, Associate Professor and Director of Graduate Studies, Department of Fine Arts, Syracuse University)

Given its ambitious and groundbreaking scope, Burning with Desire is bound to become a touchstone for any further consideration of the topic of photography's invention.

(Douglas R. Nickel, San Francisco Museum of Modern Art)

Given its ambitious and groundbreaking scope, Burning with Desire is bound to become the touchstone for any further consideration of the topic of photography's invention.

(Douglas R. Nickel, Assistant Curator of Photography, the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art)

About the Author

Geoffrey Batchen is Professor of the History of Photography and Contemporary Art at the City University of New York Graduate Center. He is the author of Burning with Desire: The Conceptions of Photography (1999) and Each Wild Idea: Writing, Photography, History (2002), both published by the MIT Press.

Users Review

From reader reviews:

Cathy Spearman:

Reading a guide tends to be new life style in this era globalization. With studying you can get a lot of information that may give you benefit in your life. Along with book everyone in this world can easily share their idea. Publications can also inspire a lot of people. Lots of author can inspire all their reader with their story or their experience. Not only the storyplot that share in the books. But also they write about the data about something that you need instance. How to get the good score toefl, or how to teach your children, there are many kinds of book that you can get now. The authors in this world always try to improve their ability in writing, they also doing some research before they write with their book. One of them is this Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography.

Robert Rooks:

Do you have something that you enjoy such as book? The book lovers usually prefer to opt for book like comic, small story and the biggest one is novel. Now, why not hoping Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography that give your entertainment preference will be satisfied simply by reading this book. Reading addiction all over the world can be said as the means for people to know world better then how they react towards the world. It can't be mentioned constantly that reading addiction only for the geeky particular person but for all of you who wants to possibly be success person. So , for every you who want to start studying as your good habit, you may pick Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography become your starter.

Jeffrey Blough:

Many people spending their time period by playing outside with friends, fun activity having family or just watching TV 24 hours a day. You can have new activity to invest your whole day by reading a book. Ugh, ya think reading a book can definitely hard because you have to use the book everywhere? It okay you can have the e-book, taking everywhere you want in your Touch screen phone. Like Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography which is having the e-book version. So , try out this book? Let's observe.

Alva Stephenson:

Reserve is one of source of knowledge. We can add our expertise from it. Not only for students but native or citizen need book to know the change information of year to year. As we know those guides have many advantages. Beside many of us add our knowledge, can also bring us to around the world. By book Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography we can have more advantage. Don't you to definitely be creative people? To get creative person must like to read a book. Merely choose the best book that suitable with your aim. Don't become doubt to change your life with that book Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography. You can more desirable than now.

Download and Read Online Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography By Geoffrey Batchen #LT47CR5BW3K

Read Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography By Geoffrey Batchen for online ebook

Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography By Geoffrey Batchen Free PDF d0wnl0ad, audio books, books to read, good books to read, cheap books, good books, online books, books online, book reviews epub, read books online, books to read online, online library, greatbooks to read, PDF best books to read, top books to read Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography By Geoffrey Batchen books to read online.

Online Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography By Geoffrey Batchen ebook PDF download

Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography By Geoffrey Batchen Doc

Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography By Geoffrey Batchen Mobipocket

Burning with Desire: The Conception of Photography By Geoffrey Batchen EPub